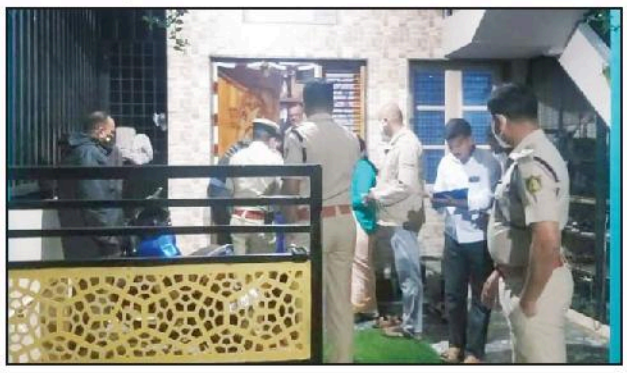
DOUBLE MURDER

Wayward son kills father, a woman acquaintance

Incident shocks quiet neighbourhood of Srinagar Layout near Ramabai Nagar

Accused Sagar



Police collecting information at the crime spot

Victim Shivaprakash

Mysuru, Oct. 22 (RK&KS)- The post-Dasara festive atmosphere got a jolt this morning as the city woke up to a brutal crime where a man and his woman friend were hacked to death with a machete last night. The incident occurred at Srinagar and the accused here is the man's grown up son who was upset about his father meeting that woman.

Srinagar Layout is located near Ramabai Nagar, off the Ring Road junction and the quiet neighbourhood was shaken by the way the murders were committed. The victims are Shivaprakash (54) and Tulasi (48) — name changed to protect family honour — a widow. The accused is Sagar, Shivaprakash's son.

Shivaprakash, a resident of K.G. Koppal was reportedly having a relationship with Tulasi for 8 to 10 years. He used to stay at Tulasi's house in Srinagar and this time, he had stayed there for a fortnight. Shivaprakash's family was in the know of the relationship and had no qualms about it, except for Sagar who had objected.

Sagar is married and has a son and a daughter. But he was unemployed and used to live with his father's money and this often led to fights between the father and son. Shivaprakash owned a couple of houses and also a vast tract of agricultural land which he had given on rent and was getting a handsome income. Police said that Sagar had taken loans from many private financiers and Shivaprakash had repaid them recently.

Police said that a property dispute or a fight over sharing money in the family could have caused the relationship between the father and son to strain. Seething in anger, Sagar was waiting to strike. Yesterday at around 10 pm, Sagar, after confirming that his father was with Tulasi, reached Srinagar and knocked on the door.

City cloth merchant jumps in front of moving train

Manikyam

Mysuru, Oct. 22 (RK&KS)- A cloth merchant died after jumping in front of a moving train behind Pandavapura Sahakara Sakkare Karkhane (PSSK) in Pandavapura this morning.

The deceased has been identified as S. Manikyam (52), a resident of Sunnadakeri, who owns a saree shop near Uma Talkies in Kumbarageri.

Yesterday at about 10 am, Manikyam left the shop saying that he was going to collect his dues from saree purchasers. He left the shop on his Honda Activa (KA-09-HG-7191) leaving his sons Chethan and Karthik to take care of the shop.

Later he called his son over the phone at about 5 pm and told him that his work was done and was coming back. However, neither did he come to the shop nor reach his house. Today morning, Chethan received a call from Mysuru Railway Police, who told him that they had found Manikyam's body and asked him to come to Mysuru Railway Police Station.

Manikyam had jumped in front of the Mysuru-Tuticorin train behind PSSK factory in Pandavapura at about 6.30 am today. The train driver, after stopping the train, moved the dead body from the track and informed the Mysuru Railway Police before proceeding further.

Youth electrocuted while draining out sump water

Mysuru, Oct. 22 (RK&KS)- A 22-year-old youth was electrocuted while trying to pump out overflowing water from a sump last afternoon.

He was using an electric water pump for the purpose. The victim is Mohan Gowda, son of late M.H. Siddappa and a resident of Janata Nagar. Yesterday at about 3.30 pm, Mohan, who noticed water overflowing from the underground water sump at his house, brought an electric water pump to drain out the water.

Mohan Gowda then placed the water pump on the sump and switched it on only to be instantly electrocuted.

Saraswathipuram Inspector Thimmaraju and staff conducted mahazar and shifted the body to MMC&RI mortuary, where post-mortem was conducted.

CA site: MUDA extends deadline to submit applications till Nov.30

Mysuru, Oct.22 (MTY&DM)- Taking note of the series of holidays in October, the Mysuru Urban Development Authority (MUDA) has extended the deadline for applying to Civic Amenities (CA) sites till Nov.30.

Announcing this at a prèss meet here yesterday, MUDA Chairman H.V. Rajeev said that the earlier deadline for getting application forms was Oct.22 and the last date for submission of filled in forms was Oct.30. But now, the deadline for obtaining applications has been extended till Nov.11 and for submission of filled in forms along with supporting documents till Nov.30.

Pointing out that MUDA has invited applications from Associations, Societies, Trusts and the like for allotment of 312 CA sites in different localities of the city, Rajeev said that the exact location of all these sites can be identified in Google map. The applicants can surf the Google map for location of the sites through the Web link—mudamysore.gov.in or mysuru.muda.gov.in, he said.

Stating that 525 Organisations have obtained the application forms for CA sites of different dimensions so far, Rajeev said that 22 of them have submitted the application forms along with supporting documents, while also remitting Initial deposit and Registration fee.

Maintaining that each applicant can apply for three sites in order of preference in a single application form, he said that all the allottees are required to use the site only for the sought purpose, within three years of allotment.

The MUDA Chairman also warned that the allotment will be cancelled in case of default or violation of set conditions. Already, the allotment of 188 such sites has been cancelled, he added.

Referring to Group Housing Scheme, Rajeev said that the scheme has got good response, with about 50,000 people responding to the demand survey through online and offline modes.

Asserting that the approved DPR has been sent to the Government for sanction, he said that MUDA is expecting Cabinet sanction for the ambitious housing project next month.

On the proposal for formation of a Township, Rajeev said that talks are going on with the farmers on acquisition of land for the purpose. He expressed the hope that the talks will be fruitful.

Replying to a query on mounds of waste dumped on the banks of Ayyajayyanahundi Lake near Dattagalli and at other spots, Rajeev said that all the waste generated in MCC and MUDA limits must be dumped only at specified places. Contending that MUDA has handed over 7.5 acres of land to the MCC for waste management, he said that MUDA was ready to allot more land if necessary.

MUDA members Naveen Kumar and G. Lingaiah, Chief Engineer Jayanth and others were present at the press meet.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

India is a land of many cultures and we take pride in our rich heritage. An integral part of this culture is our festivals. Regardless of the festival, be it Diwali, Holi, Christmas or Eid, the celebrations are full of pomp, glitter and grandeur. These festivals unify us and help reinforce our identity as part of a larger community. Over time, there is a growing perception that the festivals are not the same anymore. The way we celebrate has changed and they have lost the 'charm'. In the overarching wave of consumerism and the domineering influence of technology, the key point is why we celebrate the festival and not how. In reality, the festivals have not changed, people's attitudes have. People choose their own way to celebrate and do not feel the need to align with the masses. As long as the core fabric of the society is not disturbed and the essence of the festival is not lost, we should adjust and adapt to the changing times.

NEWS SPARKLERS

This temple is home to a 'vegetarian' croc

Kumbla: Sri Ananthapura Temple in Kumbala, north Kerala's Kasaragod district is home to a vegetarian crocodile named 'Babiya' who has been living there for over 70 years.

Pictures of a large crocodile inside the Sri Ananthapadmanabha Swamy Lake Temple made international news headlines last year, boosting the small Hindu temple's popularity. But in reality, this was one of the few times that the giant reptile had entered the temple, as it spends most of its time in an adjacent pond, waiting for the priests to bring it the daily meals, which are always vegetarian. If the priests are to be believed, Babiya the crocodile has been living solely on cooked rice for as long as he's been at the temple, which adds up to over seven decades.

No one really knows how Babiya wound up at the Kerala temple, but it's been there so long that everyone views it as part of the scenery. The priests there claim that the reptile has never once tried to attack them, and they consider it to be holy.

Victims of a bizarre artisanal drug

Kinshasa: Authorities in Kinshasa, the capital of the Democratic Republic of Congo, are worried about the growing popularity of bombé, a new artisanal drug that allegedly turns energetic youths into zombies.

While the world is battling COVID-19, Kinsasha Police are struggling to contain the rapid spread of a dangerous drug that threatens the lives of millions of youths. Known as 'bombé', this dubious concoction is based on a brown powder obtained from crushing the ceramic core of catalytic converters, a car part in exhaust pipes. Mixed with some pills, this powder reportedly makes users to stand motionless for hours, sometimes days or just move aimlessly like zombies, which has earned them the ominous nickname 'zombies of Kinshasa.'

Why cameras are banned at Hebbal Lake Park?

Sir,

While I admire the work done by Infosys Foundation in maintaining Hebbal Lake Park, it irks me to no end that cameras are banned in this Park. It is a great location for bird and nature photography enthusiasts.

Most people who visit this Park go with their smartphones which have fairly good cameras. So what is the rationale behind this ban on cameras inside the Park? This is a public park for enjoyment of all and this arbitrary ban serves no purpose. Please rescind this ban immediately. I also would like to request the authorities concerned to leave the Park open all day as it was earlier.

Govt. announces guidelines for starting classes 1-5

Bengaluru, Oct.22 (KMS&DM)- With the Government announcing that physical classes for 1st to 5th standard will start from Oct.25, the Department of Public Instruction has issued the following guidelines:

Schools must form batches of 15 to 20 students in each class and teach them. All teachers aged above 50 must mandatorily wear face shield while taking classes.

All Government, aided and unaided schools will hold physical classes only for half-day (10 am to 1.30 pm) from Oct.25 to 30. Thereafter, schools should function on a full-scale from Nov. 2, on which date, the mid-day meal scheme will also start. It is preferable for children to bring drinking water from their homes. Attendance for physical classes is not compulsory and children attending physical classes must bring consent letter of their parents.

Students, teachers and other school staff must wear face mask and teachers should have been vaccinated. As the schools are restarting after a gap of over 18 months, schools should focus on bridge course in the first week of re-opening. Classes should be held only from 10 am till 1.30 pm from Oct.25 to 29 and from 8 am till 11.40 am on Oct.30 (Saturday). From Nov.2, schools can hold classes from 10.30 am till 4.30 pm from Monday to Friday and from 8 am till 11.40 am on Saturdays.

Chamundi Hill retaining wall has multiple yawning gaps

Netas, officials focus only on development but silent on conservation, green cover

Mysuru, Oct. 22 (SBD,RK& BCT)- A portion of Chamundi Hill collapsed on Wednesday night, exposing the callous nature of the official machinery and elected representatives. Though formal press releases were issued to convey the 'concern' of the Government for 'immediate repairs and restoration,' the political statements did little to cover the apathy.

When a landslide occurred on Oct. 22, 2019, the then Mysuru District Minister V. Somanna had asked the Public Works Department (PWD) to construct a cement retaining wall and at the same time conduct a comprehensive survey of all the vulnerable points where there are chances of potential landslides. Though the officials nodded to the Minister's words, nothing of that sort was done.

After the concrete wall was constructed at an estimated cost of Rs. 49 lakh, the issue was forgotten and the Chamundi Hill safety was put into the backburner. Officials and elected representatives conveniently forgot the issue and talked about more and more development works up the Hill — including construction of a ropeway — to attract more tourists and in turn convert the green hill to a concrete jungle.

After last Wednesday's collapse, again 'instructions' were issued to District and PWD officials to conduct a 'comprehensive' survey to identify all the vulnerable spots up the Hill that are prone to landslides. How far the officials will go to conduct a survey is anybody's guess.

Forget a comprehensive survey but even a casual visit to the Hill reveals many gaping holes in the retaining wall that is more than 100 years old and till now, no concrete measure has been taken to assess the strength of the old retaining wall.

Official apathy

Though the Hill (3,489 ft above sea level) and Sri Chamundeshwari Temple is in the itinerary of every VIP, VVIP and tourist who visit Mysuru and the Temple is one of the richest Government-controlled Temples in India, the route to the Temple via the Hill has been neglected and straight-jacket solutions are provided only when accident occurs.

As the stone retaining wall is more than a century old, stones have fallen at several places and wide cracks have developed all along. With absolutely no maintenance, water streams cut through the retaining wall after rains where the water flows from the Hill to the foothill, loosening the earth. The last two landslides have occurred due to loose soil.

Even at viewpoints and around the tourist Gopura, stones have collapsed and cracks are visible. At a distance of one kilometre from the Temple, the retaining wall has collapsed and till now no effort has been made to restore the gaping areas.

GSI not consulted

Though environment-conscious citizens have repeatedly demanded conservation and a deep study of the fragile ecosystem and soil, not even once the Geological Survey of India (GSI) has been asked to submit a detailed study report.

There are allegations that after the first landslide in 2019, the officials did not consult GSI experts before constructing the concrete retaining wall though they have claimed to have consulted them. Now with the second landslide, there is a demand for a detailed GSI survey of the Hill and strict adherence to their recommendations.

Pleas to declare a buffer zone around Chamundi Hill and freeze new development projects have fallen on deaf ears and only recently, some of the elected representatives had sought additional facilities including dormitories and guest houses on top of the Hill based on Tirupati model.

Officials and elected representatives have failed to realise that such development works will only jeopardise the green cover and destroy the rare flora and fauna of the Hill, a biodiversity hotspot for hundreds of species of birds and butterflies apart from a large population of leopards, reptiles and insects.

Technical report, estimation

Meanwhile, Public Works Minister C.C. Patil has instructed the PWD engineers and officials to visit the spot and submit a technical report. Engineers have been directed to assess the ground situation and identify the other road stretches that could cave in because of the loose soil condition.

Chamundeshwari MLA G.T. Devegowda visited the Hill last evening and asked the officials to prepare an estimate of the new retaining wall and submit the same to the Deputy Commissioner for approval and clearance. He said that he has already spoken to Cooperation and District Minister S.T. Somashekar and also to the PWD Secretary Krishna Reddy to sanction funds for immediate repairs.

Woman, children go missing

Bharathinagar, Oct. 22 (AS& KS)- A woman and her two children have gone missing from Sabbanahalli village near Bharathinagar since Oct. 17.

Those missing are Bhagya, wife of S.P. Siddachari, 11-year-old Kruthika and 10-year-old Siddarth.

According to the complaint lodged by Siddachari at K.M. Doddi Police Station, Bhagya, Kruthika and Siddarth, left the house on Oct. 17 at about 7.30 pm and has since gone missing.

K.M. Doddi Police, have registered a case.

Boy missing

Mysuru: A 15-year-old boy, who had gone for swimming along with his friends, has gone missing.

Bhagya Kruthika Siddarth

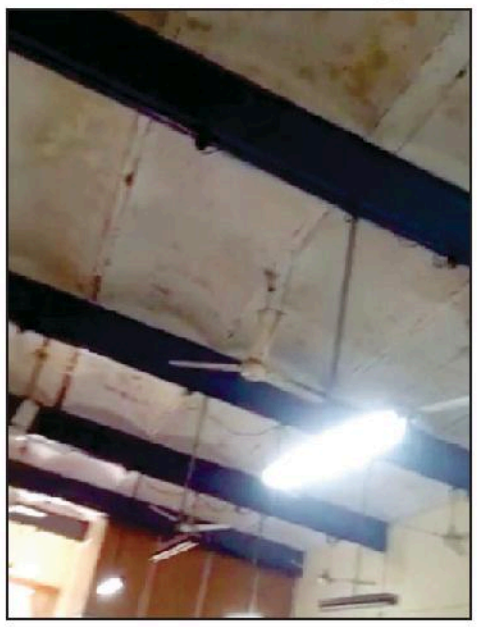
The missing boy is Abdul Rehman, a resident of Shanthinagar in city. On Sept. 23, Abdul, along with his friends Prajwal, Vishal, Kuiah, Vijay and Mohin went to Varuna Canal near Rammanahalli for a swim. Abdul's parents in their complaint stated that Mohin informed them that Abdul was drowned while swimming and when they went to Varuna Canal, they saw his clothes and slippers on the banks of the canal but could not find him or his body.

Those having information may contact Mysuru South Police on Ph: 0821-2444955 or 2444800.

Leaking roof of SBI main branch building causes concern



SBI Main Branch building

Sai Baba Kuteer

Mysuru, Oct.22 (RKB&DM)- The leaking roof of the decades old State Bank of India (SBI) Main Branch building on Sayyaji rao road next to D. Banumaiah College, has caused concern amongst the Bank staff and customers alike.

The building from which the Bank is functioning is called as 'Motikhana Building,' which is listed as one of the important heritage structures of the city.

Due to incessant rains on Wednesday night, the roof of the building began to leak, resulting in rain water dropping onto the floor. The leak has caused worries for Bank staff and customers, who feel that the roof must undergo a complete repair in order to make it leak-proof. The public have urged the authorities to take immediate measures to repair the building and thus ensure that Lansdowne Building like tragedy does not recur.

In yet another rain related incident, water gushed into Sai Baba Kuteer located behind Judges Quarters at Saraswathipuram.

Portion of Commercial Tax Office compound wall collapses

Mysuru, Oct.22 (RKB&DM)- The Wednesday night torrential rains resulted in the collapse of a portion of the compound wall of Commercial Tax Office located on Dewans Road, Devaraja Mohalla.

Authorities said that five feet length of the compound wall had completely collapsed. The wall which was built using mud-mortar decades ago, could not withstand the pounding of rains, resulting in the collapse of a stretch of the wall. The collapsed wall will be immediately rebuilt, they said adding that any repairs to the building, if found necessary, too will be taken up at the same time.

Passing Out Parade

The trainees from 17 Police units across the State began their routines at the PTS on Feb. 25 this year and have undergone an eight-month regimental training and of them 138 are from rural areas while 30 of them came from urban areas.

Apart from theory, these trainees are taken to the field for exposure to ground realities. The field visits include to different Police Stations, Forensic Science Laboratories, Wireless Units, Fingerprint Unit, KSRP Mounted Police Unit, Mysore Airport, Krishna Raja Sagar Dam and the Mysore Palace.

Speaking as the chief guest, Additional Director General of Police (ADGP Training) P. Harishekaran said that due diligence has been attributed while developing administrative infrastructure for women recruits. "Enough care has been taken to accommodate the women force into the Police and accordingly they have been prepared to undergo rigorous training," he said.

Complimenting the trainees for undergoing sessions including delicate and modern crimes such as cyber crimes, the ADGP said that the training will go a long way in solving many crime cases at various places they will be posted to. "Apart from the regular law and order duty, these trained women can be posted as Special Branch sleuths at each station where they can play an important role in crime detection and ensuring that the criminals are convicted," he added.

City Police Commissioner Dr. Chandragupta, DCP (District Armed Reserve) Shivaraj, KPA Director Vipul Kumar, SP R. Chethan, ASP Shivakumar and KSRP Commandant Nagaraj were present.

Double murder in Mysuru

An unsuspecting Shivaprakash opened the door and Sagar hit his chest with the machete he had brought with him, killing him instantly. Though he tried to escape, Sagar hacked him repeatedly, said the Police.

Hearing the commotion, Tulasi came out of the house. Sagar lunged at her and hit her with the sharp machete. Tulasi's son Nagarjuna, who came to her rescue, was also assaulted but he managed to escape with injuries. Sagar fled from the spot after committing the murders. Nagarjuna has been admitted to a private hospital, the Police added.

Superintendent of Police (SP) R. Chethan, Additional SP Shivakumar, Mysuru South Inspector N. Shashikumar and staff visited the spot last night and summoned the dog squad and fingerprint unit to gather clues.

A spot mahazar was conducted and the bodies were shifted to MMC&RI mortuary, where post-mortem is being conducted. The Police said that they have launched a manhunt to nab Sagar.

Down The Memory Lane

By K. Vijaya Kumar
Former Jt. Director of Information & Publicity

Journalists are 'made', not 'born'

Prof. Nadig Krishna Murthy, the doyen of journalism education

On the occasion of the birth centenary of Prof. Nadig Krishna Murthy, here we reproduce the article written by his 'Shishya' K. Vijaya Kumar and published in Star of Mysore dated Feb. 16, 2012:

Time was when it used to be said that a 'Journalist is born and not made.' It may, at least, be partially true. But it has been proved over 50-60 years ago that a journalist is 'made' and not necessarily 'born.' One can also see the tremendous growth of media, not just print medium, in the country wherein thousands of such 'made' journalists are showing their brilliance in the field. And not to mention the Central and State Government Information-Public Relation Wings, various public and private undertakings.

Origin of journalism instruction in India

Early in the 20th century, Dr. Annie Besant's interest in professional training aroused the attention of eminents like Rabindranath Tagore and Sir C.P. Ramaswamy Aiyer. With the founding of the National University at Adyar in Madras, they introduced journalism as a subject of study. For practical training, the students were sent to the offices of 'New India,' besides lectures by leading newspapermen to the students.

Rajendra Prasad & Nehru for trained Journalists

Dr. Rajendra Prasad, the first President of India, in 1955 said in a message to the Mysore University Journalism Association that "India needs trained journalists."

The late Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru endorsed the same view when Mysore University Journalism students met him in New Delhi.

The distinction of providing journalism instruction at the degree-level is held by the Mysore University, the course being started way back in 1951.

This shows how important is education in journalism and other allied subjects and imparting practical training.

My memory goes back to fifties, about 60 years ago, when I joined the famous Maharaja's College as a student of journalism (it was then one of the optional subjects) in 1956-58,

Shishya K. Vijaya Kumar

Dr. Nadig Krishna Murthy was my Professor. He had already earned a Master's Degree in Journalism from the University of Missouri, Columbia, USA. Later he was awarded the first ever Doctorate in Journalism given by any Indian University in 1964 by the Mysore University. He had also served in the United State Information Service as a Feature Writer besides being a UNESCO Fellow touring in USA and Europe.

Indian journalism

His in-depth knowledge in the subject made him to bring out a 500-page voluminous research book titled Indian Journalism, aptly described as a 'magnificent contribution to journalistic literature in India.' It was acclaimed widely as a reference book to journalism students in various Indian Universities. It was also praised as a 'fine job of scholarship.'

The known Journalist of USA Norman Cousins has described the book thus "... From

Guru Nadig Krishna Murthy

Ashoka to Nehru we are given a splendid purview of a dizzyingly complex history."

[The book, it is heartening to note, was published by Prasaranga of Mysore University when Dr. Prabhushankara was its Director in 1966 with the assistance of University Grants Commission.]

His practical way of teaching journalism

This distinguished Professor joined the University of Mysore in 1953 as Head of the Department of Journalism in Maharaja's College, though the course had started two years earlier in 1951. Needless to say, we were lucky to be trained by such a knowledgeable person in the field.

Besides theory classes, he had attached more importance to practical training. He started a monthly practice-journal named Patrikodyami (The Journalist) in English and Kannada involving students, making them to write articles, besides sending them for reporting some of the interesting, newsworthy events around the city. He taught us the art of 'Nose for News.'

Gandhiji's journalism

More importantly, Nadig being a Gandhian, impressed on us Gandhiji's idealism of journalism — serving the society through our pen with truthful reporting, asking us to read old issues of Gandhiji's Harijan newspaper. Nadig had authored a book on Gandhiji.

When I became the Secretary of Journalism Students' Association, I remember how he encouraged me to invite leading Editors of newspapers and periodicals to give us special lectures. I recall a few names like Khadri Shamanna, E.R. Sethuram, Agaram Rangaiah, photo-journalist T.S. Satyan,

Front cover of the book

Publisher Koodali Chidambaram and many other eminent personalities in the field whose names I have forgotten now. We learnt from them the nuances of journalism. He used to organise tours for students to Delhi to visit newspaper offices and meet great leaders.

He developed the Department to reach a height when the post-graduation course in journalism was started in Manasagangothri.

His students' distinction

Many of his students occupied key posts in media and in Government's Information Departments and in public undertakings' Publicity Wing. One Sri Narendra became the Principal Information Officer to Government of India and later served as Press Advisor to late Prime Minister Rajiv Gandhi. His other student late Syed Iqbal Khadri succeeded him as Head of the Department. Several others joined various Universities teaching journalism.

Other students like Shameem Ahamed joined the Press Registrar's Office and Sheshachandrika became a popular Officer in the Field Publicity Wing of Government of India. Myself, late P. Nagachar and some others joined the State Information Department. Pattabhiraman joined Prajavani and earned a good name, so also late Sunderraj who joined Samyukta Karnataka. Sri Vishu Kumar became the Director of Information and Publicity Department of the Government of Karnataka.

Other journalism students who earned Master's degree in journalism when the Department grew to start PG courses, served in various newspapers in the State as well as outside.

Prof. Nadig also became the first Chairman of Newspaper Academy (now Media Academy — the name was changed during the Chairmanship of noted journalist Arjun Deva) which was started by Government of Karnataka at his instance. He wanted me as Secretary to the Academy but I could not join for personal reasons.

Unfortunately, he died at the age of 62 in 1983 of cardiac arrest. All his students owe a debt of gratitude to Prof. Nadig Krishna Murthy.

Apprehensions about journalism course

Before I conclude, I have to mention here our senior journalist friend Krishna Vattam, in a public meeting a couple of months ago in the presence former Vice-Chancellor Prof. D. Javaregowda, revealed how Sri Gowda contributed to the development of journalism at Post-Graduate level though there were apprehensions of such course in the University expressed by the then Journalists' Association. In fact, this prompted me to write this article.

MLA inaugurates Relay Alarm installed at Kodagu Sainik School

- The alarm will sound warning to people in low-lying areas during water release from Harangi Reservoir
- Frontline Warriors feted at the 15th Foundation Day

Mysuru, Oct. 22-The 15th Foundation Day was celebrated with festive fervour at Sainik School Kodagu, following all COVID-19 precautionary measures.

Madikeri MLA M.P. Appachu Ranjan, who was the chief guest and officers laid the wreath and paid homage to war heroes at the Wall of Heroes site in the campus.

Appachu Ranjan also inaugurated the Relay Alarm installed at the school premises. The relay alarm is an initiative by Sainik School to relay the alarm during release of water from Harangi reservoir during monsoon so as to sound the warning to low-lying areas in and around Kudige for another 5 km from its location.

Students presented a cultural programme at Kuvempu Multipurpose Hall. A video titled 'Metamorphosis of Sainik School Kodagu: Now and Then', which highlighted the progress and achievement of the school since its inception on Oct. 18, 2007, was screened during the programme.

The day scholar cadets performed a video based skit dedicated to all frontline warriors. In order to acknowledge their efforts, the school felicitated the healthcare professionals and frontline workers from various other departments like Police, education, fire safety, forest, CPWD, PWD, Postal Department, Panchayat, Bank and Agriculture Department.

Kathe Kelona Banni restarts at Kalasuruchi

Weekly story-telling session for children from tomorrow

Mysuru, Oct. 22- Kalasuruchi, the city-based cultural organisation, embarked upon a small experiment to conduct weekly story-telling sessions by the name 'Kathe Kelona Banni' (Come, let us hear stories) almost 15 years ago and due to COVID it had to be temporarily stopped. Now that life is returning to normalcy, this programme is being restarted on Oct.23 (Saturday).

During the inaugural programme, noted theatre personality Bhargavi Narayan had narrated stories. Since then, come Saturday, exactly at 4.30 pm, you can see and hear children enthusiastically entering the Suruchi Rangamane in Kuvempunagar.

'Kathe Kelona Banni' intends to cultivate a habit of listening and to simply enjoy a good story. Of course, we have abundant supply of stories from India and abroad — Vikramaditya and Betal, Arabian nights, Panchatantra and not to mention an eternal spring of tales from Ramayana and Mahabharata.

Over these many years, people from all walks of life have shared stories with children. Doctors, engineers, lawyers, writers, actors and a large number of teachers have contributed. There have been many stories narrated serially too. Vimalashree narrated Ramayana over 20 weeks while D. Balakrishnaiah narrated Mahabharata over 25-plus weeks. Dr. Ramanath regaled children with Vikram and Betal stories over 15 weeks.

Limca Book of Records has recognised this feat and included 'Kathe Kelona Banni' in their annual records for the year 2015.

Dr. H. K. Ramanath, K. Nagaraja and Balakrishnaiah have been coordinating this programme since the beginning. Dr. Ramanath says, 'Apart from enjoying a good story, we are also striving to inculcate a sense of fairness, cultivating good values and above all, increasing listening abilities among the children. Questioning is actively encouraged and it is amazing the kind of questions children come up with, if nudged a bit.'

Nagaraja adds, 'Over these years, several generations of children have attended the programme. Typically one sees children starting around 6-9 years and continuing to attend for about three years. Some of the children who attended initial programme have completed graduation now.'

Vijaya Sindhuvalli, the backbone for all Suruchi Rangamane activities, is now being affectionately called 'Kathe Mane Ajji' by the children.

Interested children may participate in the story-telling session tomorrow at 4.30 pm at Suruchi Rangamane, 476, Chitrabhanu Road, Kuvempunagar, Mysuru. B. Balakrishnaiah, retired teacher and resource person, will narrate the story for kids. For details contact K. Nagaraja, Co-Convener, Kala Suruchi on Mob: 92435-81097 or 99459-43115.

Mysuru Literature Festival 2021

● Virtual session Date: October 23 Time: 7 pm IST

Vault of Vishnu: Sugar, Silk and Mystery

Panellist: Ashwin Sanghi

Ashwin Sanghi, based in Mumbai, is a very well-known author of the literary genre, thriller-fiction. Having done his schooling and initial college education in Mumbai, he went on to get his Master's from the prestigious Yale University in the US. He has the distinction of being included in the Forbes India 100 celebrities list.

Well-known as the Dan Brown of India, this best-selling author has written novels like 'The Krishna Key', 'Chanakya's Chant', 'The Rozabal Line' and 'The Vault of Vishnu'. A popular and an articulate speaker on many topics, Ashwin Sanghi is a sought-after speaker at several academic and literary events. He is the recipient of many awards and honours including Vodafone-Crossword popular choice award. "Private India", a book co-authored by him made it to the UK top best-seller list.

Moderator: Anuja Chandramouli

"As a country, we have an issue stepping out of our past shadow," Anuja Chandramouli, the young author who lives in Sivakasi, is said to have said. She is a popular writer of several books and has every right to say so because she has thoroughly explored writing books of the genre of mythological fantasies and historical fictions in the Indian context.

A graduate in Psychology and a holder of Master's degree in English, Anuja's debut novel 'Arjuna - The Saga of a Pandava Warrior-Prince', was named as one of the top 5 sellers in the Indian writing category by Amazon India. She followed that novel by stories about many Indian mythological and historical figures like Kamadeva, Yama, Kartikeya, Mohini, Ganga, Prithviraj Chauhan and so on. She regularly conducts creative writing workshops to students and is an accomplished Bharathanatyam dancer.

India Post to celebrate birth centenary of R.K. Laxman

Tribute through cartoon drawing contest, release of special postal cover & postcards on Oct. 24

Mysuru, Oct. 22- India Post is celebrating the birth centenary of legendary cartoonist R.K. Laxman at the Postal Training Centre (PTC) in Nazarbad, Mysuru, on Oct. 24.

Rasipuram Krishnaswami Laxman (Oct.24, 1921 - Jan.26, 2015) was best known for his creation The Common Man and for his daily cartoon strip, You Said It in The Times of India, which started in 1951.

Laxman started his career as a part-time cartoonist, working mostly for local newspapers and magazines. While as a college student, he illustrated his older brother and novelist R.K. Narayan's stories in The Hindu.

R.K. Laxman

His first full-time job was as a political cartoonist for The Free Press Journal in Mumbai. Later, he joined The Times of India, and became famous for The Common Man character, which turned out to be the turning point in Laxman's life.

As a tribute to R.K. Laxman, India Post has organised a cartoon drawing contest at PTC at 11 am. This will be followed by release of one special cover and a set of three postcards based on the artwork of Laxman. Sharda Sampath, Chief Postmaster General, Karnataka Circle, will be the chief guest. For details contact Col. Akhil Kumar on Mob: 94831-94892.
